CLASS NIGHT EXERCISES INTERESTING FEATURE

Two Plays Are Presented by the High School
Graduates

FEATURES TONIGHT

W. D. Pollock to Present the Diplomas to the Class

One of the best class night exercises ever given by a graduating class of the Charleroi high school was held at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. Two plays were given by the members of the class to be graduated. One play by the girls and one by the boys.

"On the Stairway of Life" was presented by the girls of the class. Seven stages of life were prettily and impressively portrayed. In the scene "Babyhood" the part of Baby Angus was capably taken by Aldina Grandy. Rose by Gwendolyn Richards, Master Dick by Marion Martin, Master Harry by Queen Wilson and nurse by Mary Barnum. Child pranks were cleverly pictured in this part.

"Childhood" showed the mischievous children and their playful ways. Miss Helen McClain interpreted the part of the governess. Other parts were, Doris by Sadie Herche, Patty by Gwendolyn Richards, Florence by Elizabeth Hall, Mary by Margaret Hackett, Tom by Claire Campbell, Dick by Marian Martin and Harry by Aldina Grandy.

Four young ladies represented "Youth" in which the theme of their conversation was the main point of interest. Marion Haines took the part of Isabel, Helen Jeffries the part of Mary, Claire Campbell the part of Cora and Sadie Herche the part of Muriel.

In "Maidenhood" the more serious view of life was presented. The role of Miss Dorothy Lee was well interpreted by Margaret Hackett. Helen McClain appeared as Mr. Herbert Ralston and Mary Barnum as Mr. Van Vliet.

A scene in the hall just before the wedding of a young lady was pictured in "Wifehood." Mrs. Earl was interpreted by Claire Campbell, Helen Jeffries was seen as Miss Virginia Earl the young lady to be married and Queen Wilson as Miss Lillian Earl a young sister. The part of Clement, the French cook was taken by Aldina Grandy.

A scene after the wedding in which the husband is impatiently awaiting his wife was shown in "Motherhood." Parts of Beatrice Clive by Marian Haines and Robert Clive by Helen McClain were well interpreted.

In "Old Age" the part of Mrs. Lee, grandmother, was taken by Queen Wilson and Mr. Lee, grandfather, by Elizabeth Hall. Professor C. E. Preshe appeared before each scene as Father Time.

The boys of the class presented a one act comedy, "What Happened to Pete?" Parts of Doctor Dusenberry by James Wagner, Pete by John Gaut, Officer Mulgarry by James Dolan and Brutus Titus by Paul Ternarsky were all capably taken.

The class history was read by Miss Helen McClain. Miss Helen Jeffries was the class knocker. Miss Margaret Hackett foretold brilliant futures

FALLOWFIELD GRANGE PROGRAM

The Fallowfield Grange have prepared a literary program for Saturday evening, June 6. The members of the grange will answer to roll call by giving a quotation. Miss Myrtle McCracken will give a recitation. The topic, "Who is most deeply interested in the cost of living, the producer or the consumer?" will be discussed by John A. Carson and John Hugas. The debate promises to be of unusual interest. The question is a live one and will undoubtedly be warmly contested. The question, "Resolved, that women should vote." The affirmative side will be supported by Mrs. Minnie Colvin and Mrs. Isaac Sprowls. I. V. Cooper and N. T. Carson will have the negative.

LOCUSTS SAID TO BE NEAR NOW

Burgess Woodward Tells
About Them at Wooster,
Ohio

The seventeen year locusts have made their appearance at California and Coal Center. They are said to be swarming everywhere. They were first noticed last Friday, and it is reported that their numbers have materially increased.

The leaves are beginning to wither on the trees in the districts infected by them and from present indications the trees will soon be stripped of their leaves.

They have been seen recently in the neighborhood of the East Buffalo Presbyterian church in great numbers. As yet they have not made their appearance in this district, but are expected in the next few days.

Burgess Woodward spent last Sunday at his old home in Wooster, O. He said that there the locusts are taking everything and that he never saw anything like the number that are on the trees. He said that last Sunday morning he went out on his father's farm for a walk and locusts were everywhere, of all sizes and descriptions. The first thing heard in the morning when awakening was the singing of the locusts.

PROF. DANIEL SUPT. OF THE PLAY GROUNDS

Prof. I. T. Daniel was elected superintendent of the play grounds Tuesday night, by the school board. The meeting of the board was very short, being adjourned to Friday evening, June 5, on account of the Class Night exercises of the high school.

CHILD IS INJURED BY AUTO AT ROSCOE

William, the 6 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gibson of Roscoe, was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock when he was run over by an automobile. The machine was driven by James Wilkins. He was driving his machine about 8 miles an hour when the accident occurred. The lad ran across the road in front of the car, and as Mr. Wilkins started he turned and again ran in front of the car. He was so close that there was no time to stop the car. The child was seriously injured about the head. A cut about three and one half inches in length was made above the right eye. Several of his teeth were knocked out and he received a bad bruise on the left leg above the ankle. It is feared that he is suffering from concussion of the brain. Dr. E. L. Collier attended the child. This morning he was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. His condition is considered to be very serious.

BOYS AND GIRLS PICNIC TOMORROW

All things are ready for the annual school picnic of the Charleroi boys and girls at Eldora park tomorrow. This is the annual outing of the school children, the transportation to the park and tickets to the attractions being furnished free to the youngsters by the Eldora Amusement company.

This picnic is an event that the boys and girls look forward to from year to year impatiently. They have a day of fun with plenty to see that no harm comes to them.

Burgess Woodward has assigned the policemen to look after the loading of the children on the cars. Two of them will be at the park all day to aid in taking care of the children.

The mills will pay on that date and the business houses will close, giving all an opportunity to spend the day at the park. BRUMBAUGH

Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh who emerged from the primary scrimmage with public confidence in his unusual qualifications for the gubernatorial office, and a strong undercurrent among men of all parties favorable to his election next November.
Among all the candidates mentioned, none could or would serve the state more effectively or more conscientiously," the Rev. Dr. Russel H.
Newell in a letter to the Philadelphia Ledger, says the Washington Jews.

So well fitted in every way is Dr.
Brumbaugh for the office of governor that his nomination is regarded as a mere preliminary to his election and inauguration as Governor Tener's successor. Owing to the fact that he had at little or no opposition in the primary, Dr. Brumbaugh's name has not appeared as frequently as it will during the main contest but enough has been said by those who know him best to convince the people that his office is satisfactory in every way.
Perhaps the most conspicuous contributive work in his great career as educator was the organization of a school system of Porto Rico at the close of the Spanish-American war. Commissioner Lindsay, who succeeded Dr. Brumbaugh on the island in a report telling of the difficulties countered, says:

At the outset I desire to express my high appreciation of the magnificent work already accomplished by my predecessor, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh of the University of Pennsylvania. It was an enormous task to create out of the chaos in matters of public instruction which the Spanish government left and out of the small gleanings in the direction of a public school system made by the military authorities of the United States during the period of military control a splendid school system for a population of a million people, operating under a comprehensive and practical educational law prepared by the commissioner and enacted by the insular legislature. The creation of an enthusiasm for education on the part of a people, which is almost without parallel, the erection of a large number of school buildings, the selection modern school apparatus and school supplies, the enrollment at the beginning of the last school year of 202 children in 780 schools, and it, but not least, the organization of a department of government with able and efficient office force.

It is a work which reflects upon Dr. Brumbaugh and upon those who were associated with him in the insular government the greatest credit and deserves the thanks of the American people. It has placed his name high on the roll of public benefactors in Porto Rico, and it is a public service which the future historians of the United States will not fail to record.

Dr. Brumbaugh's life story is one of constant achievement throughout great ability, industry and the working out of high ideals for the benefit of the people. Pennsylvania will take no backward step with such a man at the head of her affairs and the fact that he comes from that body of sturdy people in the Juniata valley and understands the methods of thought and aspirations of our mixed population, gives the eminent educator and executive unusual equipment for the gubernatorial office.

Thousands of people already know him and thousands more all over the state will better understand and appreciate the wisdom of his nomination before they make him governor next November.

BOOST YOUR HOME TOWN

Every man ought to be a booster for his home town. If that place is good enough for him to stay in and is a place for him to make his money, it ought to be good enough to say a good word about. Too often we hear a dealer complain that the "old town is deadlier than a door nail." If it is, who made it so? It is the man who "knocks," instead of getting under the foundation of the place and lifting. It is the fellow who informs every visitor that they wish they were birds so that they could fly to other places more congenial says an exchange in an excellent editorial.

What happens when these fellows do get money enough together to strike out to some other place? Do they they forget their habits of depreciation? Not so you could notice it. They soon get to saying the same bad thing about the new location and wish they were back where they came from. There are thousands of towns in this grand old country of ours that are unable to recover from their stunted conditions and start to live again. It has been the "knockers" that have kept the towns down and driven the retail trade to the mail order towns and big cities.

When a visitor comes to town say all the good things you can say about it. When a buyer wants anything do not drive him to the city for it by not being stocked. Be the first one to breath life into the old town, and see how quickly others will be taking longer breaths, too. Boost for the place where you live and do business.
If you cannot boost get out and give some one a chance who will.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The man who never makes mistakes misses a good many splendid chances to learn something.

he is going to tell you a lie.

It costs more for a dull merchant

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The following verse was written by a student of William Woods College has been handed in by a reader of the Picked Up in Passing column, for publication:

A health to the girl that can dance like a dream,
And the girl that can pound the piano;
A health to the girl that writes verse by the ream,
Or toys with high C in soprano;
To the girl that can talk and the girl that does not;
To the saint and the sweet little sinner—
But here's to the cleverest girl of the lot,
The girl that can cook a good dinner.

At a dinner party the topic turned to the rising generation and former Governor Harmon, of Ohio, was reminded of a small party named Willie.

One night Willie was trying to make a toy locomotive circulate when his mother glanced up from the baby she was disrobing for the night.

"Willie," said she, "just run upstairs and bring me baby's night gown, won't you?"

"I don't want to," complainingly responded Willie. "I have got to make this train go."

"For shame, Willie!" expostulated mother, "if you are not kind to your little sister she will put on her wings one of these days and fly back to heaven!"

"If she has got wings," was the indifferent rejoinder of Willie. "let her put them on now and fly upstairs for her night gown."

HEALTH HINTS FOR THE HOME

When our remote forefathers lived in caves and trees their household goods were limited to a favorite club a stone ax and a few skins.

The question of cleanliness was a matter of as little consideration as the question of ventilation. Both of these took care of themselves.

In the thousands of years that have intervened, with increasing intelligence has come added accumulation of household goods. Nowadays the poorest individual among us would find it difficult to load his belongings on his back and move when the fancy struck him.

At this particular season of the year the stuffiness and over-furnished feeling of our places of abode is a reminder of some of the good points in our prehistoric mode of life.

For the sake of comfort, coolness and cleanliness dispose of your heavy curtains, thick carpets and other unseasonable furnishings. During the summer season the windows are open and more or less dust sure to enter the house.

To eliminate unnecessary furniture from over-crowded rooms gives an agreeable feeling of space, makes the house easier to keep clean and more sanitary and comfortable during the heated term.

A porch is one of the most useful and enjoyable additions possible to a house in summer. As a safe playroom for the baby, a cool and comfortable rest or workroom for the housewife or a sleeping room at night, it adds to the health and comfort of the entire family.

NORTH CHARLEROI

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Hiram Foulks on Tuesday evening when about 40 of her friends and neighbors surprised her in honor of her birthday. The diversions of the evening were games and social conversation. A dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Foulks was the recipient of many beautiful presents. A number of out of town guests were present.

APOLOGY MEANS MUCH

WRITER CALLS IT HANDSOMEST THING IN THE WORLD.

Calls for Generosity in Man or Woman Willing to Admit They Were in the Wrong—Means a Sense of Justice.

An apology is the handsomest thing in the world—and the manliest and the womanliest.

I have often heard men say they never apologize. Sometimes I have heard women. Pitiful, indeed, it becomes to them. A woman without religion is no more repulsive to me than one who "never apologizes."

An apology requires a native humility of which only great souls are capable. It requires generosity to be willing to humble yourself. It takes faith in humanity to think your apology will be accepted. You must have a sense of justice to believe that you owe it.

There is only one thing meaner than a person who never apologizes, and that is a person who will not accept one.

From the standpoint of observation and inexperience, I should say that the supremest lack of men as lovers is the inability to say, "I am sorry, dear; forgive me." And to keep on saying it until the hurt is entirely gone. You gave her a deep wound. Be manly enough to stay by it until it has healed. Men will go to any trouble, any expense, any personal inconvenience, to heal it without the simple use of those simple words.

A man thinks if a woman begins to smile again after a hurt, for which he has not yet apologized, has commenced to grow dull, that the worst is over and that, if he keeps away from the dangerous subject, he has done his duty. Besides, hasn't he given her a piano to pay for it? But that same man would call another man a brute who insisted upon healing a finger with the splinter still in it, so that an accidental pressure would always cause pain.

I honestly believe that the simple phrase, "I am sorry, dear; forgive me" has done more to bind brothers to the home, to endear sisters to each other, to comfort mothers and fathers, to re- friends together, to placate lovers, that more marriages have taken place because of them and more have held together on account of them; that more love of all kinds has been engendered by them than by any other words in the English language.—From "Love Making as a Fine Art." Copyright by Harper & Bros.

Regrets Boyish Folly.

A man I know has a good position.
In his duties his right hand is displayed frequently through the day. He saw me glance at it once and without a moment's hesitation said:

"I would almost give $1,000 if that tattoo mark was not there. But from it I cannot get away."

He told this story When a boy with others in his neighborhood they met a sailor who could tattoo. The boys took the game and for a slight reward the sailor placed these indelible marks, sometimes on the arm and occasionally on the hand.

"After all these years," he said, "I am handicapped by that little American flag. I am not ashamed of the flag; proud of it, in fact, but it attracts attention which mortifies me.
Away from my duties I wear a glove to cover it and at home I do not care.
For there it is an old story of a boy who was a boy when a boy, and who cared nothing in the world about his future."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Where Money Is Hidden.

When a man believed to be John G.
Stenger was found hanging to a tree recently at Dover, N. J., it was noted that the suicide had a wooden leg.
Searching him for something by which to identify him, the police discovered a drawer in the wooden leg that opened and closed with a spring. In it were found $107 and some private papers.
The dead man's leg had been his bank.

Strange as this is, it is not more so than the case of the well-known old miner of St. Paul, Minn., who for man-years made his head his bank. He wore a wig, and between it and his bare poll were over a dozen $10,000 rolls laid flat in a piece of silk. Several times his house was entered by thieves and they went away balked.
It was only at his death that the odd hiding place was found. A note explained that he had found the head bank the safest place of all, and that he had carried $100,000 in it for a score of years.

Sarah Bernhardt Solved Problem.
A new story is being told of Sarah Bernhardt.

At the great actress theater in Paris where a new play is being rehearsed, difficulty arose over a scene in which one of the characters makes a purchase of eggs. The problem lay in the correct method of wrapping them up.

Sarah Bernhardt decided to settle the question by practical experience.
Ordering her chauffeur to stop at a dairy in the Rue St. Denis, she walked into the shop and said: "Madame, I want half a dozen eggs."

The dairywoman required a moment or two to recover from her astonishment at the sight of this fine lady.
Then she took six eggs from a basket and handed them up in a bit of old news paper, and handed them to the actress.
The problem was solved—and Sarah's chauffeur that evening dined on a splendid banquet.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its pro-given the slightest symptoms of kid-in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain procure a good kidney remedy at once.

WASHINGTON'S DEATH

James Coates, of Pittsburgh, brought an issue of the Elster County Gazette of Kingston, N. Y., dated January 4, 1800, to this office Tuesday. The old paper was pretty badly worn, but could still be read. It contains an account of the death of George Washington and a piece of poetry by a young lady.

HUMOR OF THE CLOTH

GOOD STORIES THAT ARE CREDITED TO PROMINENT DIVINES.

The Late Bishop Potter as Remarkable for His Wit as for His Eloquence—Archbishop Magee's Humorous Appeal.

Probably one of the prettiest compliments ever paid to the fair sex was that contained in the answer made by Dr. Potter, bishop of New York, who was once asked by a lady why in the many pictures and studies of angels exhibited, the angels were always depicted either as women or as young men without beards or moustaches. "Everyone knows," replied the bishop, "that women naturally inherit the kingdom of heaven, but men only get in by a very close shave."

This story is related by the Rev. T. Selby Henry, vicar of St. George, Brentford, whose little volume, entitled "Attic Salt," provides many an illustration of the fact that wit and appreciation of humor are not the least prominent characteristics of leading divines. He tells a story of the late Dr. Creighton, who one received a book from a second-rate author, to whom he replied by return of post, "I thank you very much for forwarding to me your book, and I promise you faithfully that I will not lose any time in reading it."

Another gem is the story once told by Dr. Gore, bishop of Oxford, at his own expense. "In Birmingham," he said, "I once overheard two street arabs discussing my appearance. At last one said to the other, 'I tell you what, Bill—he's a Highlander what's caught cold in his legs.'"

It was Archbishop Magee who was credited with the well-known saying when a waiter dropped some hot soup down his neck: "Is there any layman present who will kindly express my feelings?" while the following is one of the best stories told of Archbishop Temple. A lady of position, sitting near him at dinner, asked him, in a most insinuating voice: "My aunt was prevented at the last moment from sailing in that ship which foundered last week. Would you not, bishop, call that a most providential interposition?"

"Can't tell. Didn't know your aunt!" Temple said, in his characteristic blunt manner.

There is, by the way, an amusing clerical story in Lady Southwark's Reminiscences, lately published. A Somersetshire rector inquired after a sick child who had been very ill.

Oh, Agnes has recovered," replied the woman, very casually, "but—in heartrending accents—"I've lost my pig."

"Oh, how thankful you must be that your child has been spared," consoled the visitor.

"Oh, I don't know about that. Little Agnes might have been a blessed angel in heaven by now, but pigs is a dead loss!"—London Tit-Bits.

Sorting the Twins.

Twin brothers who have been called up for service in a Paris regiment are so alike that it is impossible to distinguish between them. The other day one of the pair was confined to barracks, but by changing his cap, with its regimental number, for that of his brother, the defaulter was able to pass the guard with impunity whenever he wished to go out.

The colonel of the regiment has now issued the following order: "The soldier Bonhomme (even number) will wear his hair as long as the regulations, construed with the utmost leniency, will allow, and will shave his beard and moustache. The soldier Bonhomme (odd number) will allow his beard and moustache to grow full, and will have his hair regularly cut as closely as possible by the regimental barber."—Daily Mail.

Husband Boosts Alimony.

The case of a man going into the supreme court and consenting to have a separation agreement with his wife set aside so he will be compelled to pay her more alimony occurs so seldom that when Justice Giegerich at New York set aside the separation agreement between Samuel Pelz, a cotton goods merchant at 160 Canal street, and his wife, Mrs. Rose Pelz, it aroused some interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Pelz were separated in 1903 under an agreement by which Pelz paid his wife $5,000 in lieu of all further alimony. Mrs. Pelz recently sued for divorce, naming Fannie Lefkowitz as correspondent. Pelz thought his wife was entitled to more alimony in view of her divorce case and consented to an order by Justice Giegerich directing him to pay $1,000 alimony and $500 counsel fees.

In a Pinch.

A cadet officer in the Pennsylvania Military college was reported by a faculty officer for "language," rather a severe mark in that austere institution. At the time appointed for the hearing of "explanations" of marks, the offending cadet presented himself before the commandant.

"Well, sir, how did it happen that you were guilty of using improper language while on duty?" the colonel inquired.

"Why, sir, as officer of the day I was inspecting the guard. In handling one of the rifles the lock snapped shut on my finger, and it just naturally pinched 'hell' out of me."

"Not only was the mark 'taken off,' but the colonel gleefully reported to the entire corps the cadet officer's 'itty explanation of his offenses.'—Ligonier's.

PROPER COURSE IN READING

Systematic Selection, With a Purpose, Is About the Only Way to Attain Results.

A book, an apple, and a blazing fire. What more can the heart of man desire?

Pretty near solid comfort isn't it? Especially if the fire burns without smoking, the apple is ripe and juicy, and the book is of the right kind. For the book is the most important part of the combination.

In planning your reading for the long winter months, it is a good thing to have some definite idea in mind—some particular line along which you would like to add to your store of information. It may be history, biography, science or farming. It may be that you would like to know more about animals, or bug or birds. If you take pains to plan your course of reading carefully, you may in a few months' spare time accomplish a great deal.

Suppose for example, that you are principally interested in birds. There are enough books, magazines and other literature devoted to these pretty feathered friends so that it will be easy to find material for the whole winter's work on this one subject.

Of course you should make notes as you go along. In this way you can save for future reference any scraps of information that you may glean from the sources at your command and you will find, in a short time, that you have accumulated a vast fund of definite knowledge on the subject. For convenience you may divide your notebook into several sections under such headings as follows:

1. Classes of birds. 2. Their nests and nesting-places. 3. Their habits and food. 4. Description and classification of common birds. 5. Birds that are rare or extinct. 6. Miscellaneous notes and anecdotes.

Any subject may be divided in a similar style. By following some such methods one is enabled to put knowledge into definite shape, which helps one to remember and make use of vastly more than when it is left a mere jumble of odds and ends.

One need not—in fact should not—confine reading to only the one central subject. Good literature or any kind should be mixed in for the sake of variety. Every boy and girl should acquaint themselves with the great writers of prose and poetry, both of our own and of former times. The boy and girl in the country have no better time for this purpose than the stormy days and long evenings of winter.

Competition Defined.

In deciding that a retail oil dealer in Iowa may recover damages from the Standard Oil company for going into the retail trade in competition with the plaintiff with malicious intent to drive him out of business because he quit buying his supply from the defendant and got it elsewhere, the supreme court of Iowa says in Dunsmuir v. the Standard Oil company:

"Men have the right to engage in lawful competition, and though the competition may have the effect of driving another out of business if the competition is lawful no action arises though injury resulted from the competition. Where there is lawful competition for gain, for supremacy in business, for the legitimate control of business, even though the purpose and effect of the competition is to drive from business competitors, yet if the competition is lawful and carried on in a lawful way no action will lie. There is a difference between lawful competition and simulated competition carried on with the sole purpose and intent not of profit and gain, but of maliciously injuring others engaged in that particular business."

Uses for Old Newspapers.

How many housekeepers know the value of old newspapers? They are excellent for many things.

Spread on the kitchen table they catch crumbs and can be renewed at every meal. Crumpled in the hand they polish stoves and remove superfluous grease and dirt on the stove and on cooking utensils before they are washed.

Placed between quilts they keep the bed warm. Put in the soles of shoes they keep the feet warm. Placed across the chest they keep the body warm.

Packed around woollens they act as a moth preventer. A firm is now making paper quilts. These can be made at home by using newspapers for filling and making the outside of the best grade of crinkled tissue paper. A serviceable and pretty quilt can be made of white tissue paper with a floral design. It lasts one season and a fresh one can be made the next summer.

Whooping Cough Caused by Germ. That whooping cough is caused by the bacillus pertussis, discovered by Drs. Bordet and Gengou, has now at last been proved beyond a doubt. "Masses of minute bacilli infect the epithelial cells lining the windpipe, and tubes that lead to the lungs. Their action is chiefly mechanical: they interfere with the normal movements of the cilia by sticking them together; in this way the germs furnish a continual irritation, which results in the symptoms peculiar to the disease." Drs. Mallory and Horner now announce the results of experiments upon puppies. They infected these animals by injecting the sputum of whooping cough patients into their noses and throats. Six weeks later the lesion characteristic of the disease was found in their windpipes. Normal puppies that associated with them caught the disease.

MEETING HELD TUESDAY

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the reading room Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Emma Dawson the president of the society was in charge of the meeting. Committees gave promising reports concerning the work in hand. Among the things reported was the Young Campaigner's movement, which has been successfully launched against the liquor traffic, and the work of the program committee.

The program Tuesday was in charge of Mrs. G. A. Allman. A quartet composed of Russel Stahlman, Allison Lowstutter, William Dawson and Charles Smith rendered a selection, "A Saloonless Nation in 1920." "Flower Mission" an exercise in which temperance thoughts and roses were mingled was another feature of the program.

It was decided to contribute $5.00 toward the erection of a tomb for tuberculosis patients. The next meeting will be in the "Pines".

PROPOSED CHANGE IN THE BIRD LAW

Notices have been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture calling attention to a proposed amendment in the Federal regulations for the protection of migratory, insectivorous birds. Under the new rule read or rice birds can be shot in September and October in the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. The law requires three months' notice of this change. If it is decided to adopt it, the rule will be officially promulgated at the end of that time and will go into effect on September 1, 1914.

The effect of this change will be to extend to sportsmen in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware the privilege of shooting the birds during a period of two months. This they can now do in Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. As the season is so short it is not believed that the birds will suffer appreciably in numbers.

In the late summer and early fall, they migrate to the far South, where they are known as reed or rice birds. They are regarded in the States where they can now be shot as offering good sport.

CONDUCTORS ARE GIVEN INSTRUCTIONS

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has instructed all conductors of passenger trains in detaching mileage from mileage books to notify each passenger the number of miles covered by his journey.

This was done in order to enable the passenger to check up the amount of mileage detached and also to insure accuracy on the part of conductors in detaching the correct amount.

These are the instructions issued to conductors:

"When a mileage ticket is presented, conductors must in every instance (except in sleeping cars on night trains) inquire of holder how many passengers and destination of each; and must repeat such information to passenger, stating the number of miles detached; for instance, if mileage should be offered for two passengers the Philadelphia Division conductor should say 'Two to Harrisburg, 208 miles.' In the case of one passenger using a mileage ticket the announcement would be 'One to Harrisburg, 104 miles.'"

In addition to the foregoing instructions, the company is now commencing a plan whereby passengers in sleeping cars will be notified as to the mileage lifted by means of a slip inserted in the mileage book.

LIBERTY BELL FOR SUFFRAGETS

A beautiful bronze Justice Bell will be presented to the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association by a Philadelphia woman. This will be an exact replica of the original Liberty Bell in Independence Hall. The order has been placed. The Woman's Justice Bell will weigh two thousand pounds, to be composed of the best obtainable bronze bell metal. The diameter at the mouth will be forty-six inches, and the height four feet. The cost will be several thousand dollars at least. Its tone will ring in the key of "F," which is the key of nature. The clapper, however, is to be silent until Pennsylvania women are enfranchised. Four finely woven chains will hold the clapper fast until the day when a celebration in Philadelphia will culminate in its ringing. A ceremony is being planned for the casting of the bell in Troy. This will take place in the near future.

During the campaign of the year following the passage of the Suffrage Bill through the second Legislature, a guard of honor will escort this Woman's Justice Bell all through the State's sixty-seven counties—but not until Election Day in 1915 will it be permitted to enter Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association is very proud that this gift should be so fittingly made to the women of the Keystone State, and the home of the original Liberty Bell which was rung in 1776 to "proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."
